

PROJECT MANAGER

Finance Professional

Located in Naas, Co. Kildare, the Irish Auditing and Accounting Supervisory Authority (IAASA) is the statutory body charged with the supervision of the accountancy profession in Ireland. At a time of major ongoing developments in the oversight of both the profession and financial reporting, both at EU level and internationally, the Authority now wishes to augment its existing professional staff complement by recruiting a Project Manager.

Working closely with the Authority's Heads of Function, Project Managers gain exposure to a broad and varied range of activities, including:

- performing reviews of the accountancy bodies' regulatory and monitoring processes and providing significant input to the Authority's resultant reports;
- contributing professional and technical input to the Authority's financial statement review remit and to EU wide efforts to ensure the consistent application and enforcement of international financial reporting standards (IFRS);
- contributing to Ireland's preparation for the transposition of the revised EU 8th Company Law Directive, which deals with statutory audit and provides for the EU wide introduction of public oversight systems in Member States;
- undertaking ad-hoc projects in audit, accounting and related disciplines as the need arises.

The successful candidate will be a qualified accountant and likely to have some five years post qualification experience in one or more areas of relevance to the Authority's activities e.g. audit, financial reporting or in a relevant regulatory environment.

Salary range from December 2006, will be €68,486 – €85,471.

Interested candidates should e-mail their career details in confidence, quoting reference: G28, outlining how they meet the requirements for this position, to Michael Lenahan, Director, P-E Executive Search and Selection at info@pesearchselect.ie or telephone 01 6766453 for an initial discussion.
