PREPARING FOR THE NEW QUALITY MANAGEMENT AND RISK ASSESSMENT STANDARDS

QUALITY MANAGEMENT - ISQM 1, ISQM 2 & ISA 220

The new suite of quality management standards introduce a quality management approach focused on proactively identifying and responding to risks to quality. Each firm must customise the design, implementation and operation of its system of quality management (SOQM) based on its nature, circumstances and the engagements it performs.

The quality management standards apply from 15 December 2022. Firms must design and implement a SOQM by that date and evaluate it for the first time by 15 December 2023.

IAASA has published a series of explainer videos to provide an overview of the Irish quality management standards.

Readers may also find it helpful to refer to the dedicated quality management section of the IAASB's website, which includes first time implementation guidance.

ISA (IRELAND) 315 (REVISED OCTOBER 2020) IDENTIFYING AND ASSESSING THE RISKS OF MATERIAL MISSTATEMENT

The revised ISA (Ireland) 315 requires more robust risk identification and assessment to promote a better response to identified risks. The significant changes include:

- Separate assessment of inherent risk and control risk
- Spectrum of inherent risk - used for assessment of inherent risk and the risk of material misstatement at the assertion level
- Enhanced requirements on the exercise of professional scepticism
- More requirements related to gaining an understanding of the entity's IT environment, including risk identification & assessment
- The revisions are effective for periods beginning on or after 15 December 2021.

The IAASB has published a first-time implementation guide to help auditors understand and apply the changes.

CONSULTATION ON REVISIONS TO ISA (IRELAND) 600 Special Considerations - Audits of Group Financial Statements (Including the Work of Component Auditors)

IAASA has issued a consultation on proposed revisions to ISA (Ireland) 600, and related conforming amendments. The consultation paper is available at the following link here.

The revised standard deals with considerations applying to a group audit, including when component auditors are involved. It also strengthens the auditor's responsibilities related to professional scepticism, planning and performing a group audit, two-way communications between the group auditor and component auditors, and documentation.

The proposed changes are consistent with changes made by both the IAASB and FRC, adapted to reflect Irish law and standards.

The proposed effective date is for periods beginning on or after 15 December 2023.

The deadline for responses to the consultation is 5.00pm on Friday, 9 December.

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENTS

AUDIT AND CORPORATE GOVERNANCE REFORM IN THE UK

The UK Department of Business, Energy and Industrial Strategy (BEIS) published the response to its consultation on proposals to strengthen the UK's corporate governance framework for major companies and how they are audited. It will lead to significant changes in the UK, such as the introduction of managed shared audits for larger companies and establishment of the Audit Reporting and Governance Authority (ARGA) to replace the FRC.

The FRC's position paper on how it will implement the reforms states it will consult on proposed amendments to the Ethical Standard and several ISAs (UK) with a planned effective date of periods beginning on or after 15 December 2024.

IAASA will continue to monitor these developments and any potential impact on its policy to adopt the UK standards with minimal amendments for Irish law or market conditions.

CORPORATE SUSTAINABILITY REPORTING DIRECTIVE (CSRD)

In June, the European Council and Parliament reached provisional agreement on the text of the CSRD.

It requires that an independent auditor or accredited independent certifier must ensure that the sustainability information provided by a company complies with the certification standards adopted by the EU. Initially, this will be limited assurance, with the European Commission required to adopt standards for reasonable assurance by 1 October 2028.

It is expected that the final text of the CSRD will be approved by the Council and Parliament shortly.

When the final directive is published, IAASA will consider its implications for auditors in Ireland.
